			F	arther by Grahame Bake	r-Smit	th
		This half term, w	This half term, we are looking forward to exploring the beautifully illustrated picture book
		-	Farther. As a class, we will be studying the themes and messages the book portrays with a English			particular focus on the importance of perseverance and determination. We will also be 7	looking more closely at the complex relationship between the key characters through role
		_	play and drama. Key writing skills will be explored in the context of the book and will cover:
		7 7	expanded noun phrases to create effective character descriptions; fronted adverbials to show
		-	where, when and how an event has occurred and direct speech. Our long term aim is to create an engaging sequel to this spellbinding book.
Maths			In mathematics, we will revise aspects of geometry including categorising shapes according to their properties, and comparing the size of angles. We will also be looking at fractions and word problems, and applying all these into mathematical investigations. We will also be studying and developing our understanding of fractions and decimals.
